DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

In response to the amendment filed August 25, 2003 in which the applicant has canceled claims 1-14 and 19-23, amends claims 15-18, and claims 15-18 are pending in this office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 17 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 17 recites the limitation "the computer component" in lines 7-8. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 16 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Oh '998.
5. Oh discloses a device to be mounted on a desktop having a support connectable with the desktop computer monitor, in which the examiner interprets to be the plush stuffed anatomical members for mounting on a computer monitor, a contact element connected to the support, in which the examiner interprets to be the fasteners (25) connected to the stitches (33) of the other element, the plush toy is capable of being punched like a punching bag, and the contact element having indicia, in which the examiner interprets the eyes of the plush toy to be indicia (Webster's dictionary defines indicia as distinctive marks) as recited in claim 16.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claim 15 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Oh '998 in view of Ting '282.

8. Oh discloses a device to be mounted on a desktop having a support connectable with the desktop computer monitor, in which the examiner interprets to be the plush stuffed anatomical members for mounting on a computer monitor, a contact element connected to the support, in which the examiner interprets to be the fasteners (25) connected to the stitches (33) of the other element. Oh does not expressly disclose the contact element includes a sound-producing device. Ting teaches a plush toy having a sound-producing device. By having a sound-producing device, one of ordinary skill in the art would provide a device to be incorporated into a plush toy that is inexpensive and easy to use by applying a squeezing force to the in any one of a plurality of directions. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the applicant's invention was made to modify Oh to include a sound-producing device as taught by Ting. To so would provide a device to be incorporated into a plush toy that is inexpensive and easy to use by applying a squeezing force to the in any one of a plurality of directions.

Allowable Subject Matter

9. Claim 17 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action.

Response to Arguments

10. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 15-18 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
